

GEN. DRAKE HEADS THE TICKET.

Iowa Republicans Nominate the Centerville Man For Governor.

Governor. FRANK M. DRAKE
Lieutenant Governor. MATT PARROTT
Judge of Supreme Court. J. A. GIVENS
Rural Public Instruction. HENRY S. BARNES
Railway Commissioner. GEORGE W. PARKINS

DES MOINES, July 11.—The Republican state convention Wednesday was one of the largest and most memorable in the history of the party in Iowa. There were 10 candidates for governor and six ballots were necessary to decide the contest, resulting in the nomination of General G. M. Drake of Centerville for governor. Hon. Matt Parrott of Waterloo was nominated for lieutenant governor on the second ballot and Supreme Judge Given, State Superintendent Sablin and Railroad Commissioner Perkins were renominated. Senator Allison was present and was received with wild and enthusiastic demonstrations when his name was mentioned in connection with the presidency. The resolutions were conservative, mainly reiterating the Republican platform on the currency and tariff questions.

To Arrange For a Silver Convention.

KANSAS CITY, July 11.—A special to The Times from Jefferson City says: The agency over a meeting of the Democratic state central committee to take action in regard to calling a silver convention is as an end. The committee will be convened in St. Louis next week, July 15, at 10 a. m. The secretary of the committee received a telegram from Chairman Maffitt of St. Louis stating in effect that he is now satisfied that a majority of the Democrats of the state desire the committee to be again convened for the purpose of considering the advisability of calling a state silver convention. In conclusion he directed the secretary to issue a call for the date named.

Group of Counterfeiters Broken Up.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 11.—Deputy United States Marshal Smith arrested Oliver Hayworth in Nowaday county on a charge of counterfeiting. Hayworth is thought to be at the head of the most skillful gang of counterfeiters that ever operated in this section. Three of the numbers were sent to the penitentiary at the last term of the federal court and another is in jail awaiting sentence. With the arrest of Hayworth the gang is thought to have been broken up.

Mayor Fletcher in the Shams.

STOUT CITY, July 11.—Mayor Fletcher of this city made the rounds of the slums in disguise, as a result of complaints that houses of prostitution and gambling establishments are being run openly and that the saloon men are violating the state liquor law. His discoveries seem to have startled him, for he says he will take steps to drive the objectionable classes from the city.

Saloon Won the Fight.

DES MOINES, July 11.—At a meeting of the city council the matter saloon ordinance was taken up and passed and resolutions granted to all who had filed applications, except William Priebe, Louis Jacobs and J. B. Blank, who are under arrest or indictment for illegal sales. This means that the saloons will be in full blast again.

Denise of Seth Richards.

OTTUMWA, July 11.—Seth Richards, the millionaire capitalist, who owns over $500,000 real estate in this county, died at Oakland, Cal., of a heart attack. His death will probably open up for residence lots 100 acres in the heart of the city, which he has persistently refused to part.

Whisky Trust Property to Be Sold.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 11.—Judge Baker of the United States court made an order directing John McNulta, receiver of the whisky trust, to sell the property of the company in Indiana. The property is at Terre Haute.

Three Thousand Weavers Strike.

PHILADELPHIA, July 11.—Three thousand and weavers employed in the hosiery carpet mills here struck for an advance of 7 1/2 per cent in wages. It is thought that the demand will be complied with.

Sues Commissioner Bird.

TOPEKA, July 11.—Attorney General Laws has brought proceedings against Labor Commissioner Bird for misconduct in office.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRE.

Clem Coleman, a negro preacher at Okemah, Ala., killed his wife, who was a Methodist, because she would not join the Baptist church.

Frank Langford, a white man of Maletta, S. C., was pursued by a mob of 300, who proposed to lynch him. He was taken to Greenville jail.

William Best, a notorious resident of Kentucky, was shot and instantly killed at Painted, Ky., by Speed Nunn. The killing of Best wipes out the last of the family of outlaws.

Marston Clifton and Robert Dunlap, prominent citizens of Ballington, Tex., were blasting out rocks to get at wild honey. A fragment weighing 10 tons fell on them, killing them instantly.

The dual government in the Creek Nation was ended for the time by U. S. States Agent William Wisdom, who refused to recognize Second Chief Bullitt. The Creek Nation elects a chief in September.

William E. Quar of the G. A. R. colony to be settled in Horn and Colfax counties, Georgia, arrived at Macon with his wife and children, having come from Knox county, Nebraska, in nine weeks. Four wagons follow him closely.

Governor Brown of Kentucky received a telegram from I. M. Smith of Oldham county saying his cattle are dying of some peculiar malady. The governor has ordered Dr. McCord to take the state board of health to investigate the case.

TRINITY THE VICTOR.

Cambridge Eight Won the Grand Challenge Cup at Henley.

FINAL HEAT A CLOSE ONE.

Oxford Crew Beaten by One-Third of a Length In 7:30—Eton Crew Captured the Ladies' Challenge Plate by Eight Lengths.

HENLEY, July 11.—In the final heat for the Grand Challenge cup, the Trinity Hall (Cambridge) rowing club crew, which defeated Cornell yesterday, beat the New College (Oxford) Boat club crew, and thus captured the trophy, representing the blue ribbon of aquatic sports. The race was a splendid one and Trinity Hall won by only one-third of a length in 7:30.

The crew of the London Rowing club defeated the crew of the Thames Rowing club today in the final heat of the Stewards' Challenge cup, and thus won the trophy.

When the Eton college and the crew of the London college, Oxford, were sent away in the final heat for the ladies' challenge plate, at the third stroke Eton's No. 2 caught a crab and lay at the bottom of the boat for a moment unable to rise. The Oxford boat was a couple of lengths ahead when the Oxford coxswain cried "Ease all." The Oxford then returned to the post amid frantic applause. "Bravo, Oxford," was heard on all sides, and the cry "No more Cornell" was heard from several boats. The race was then started again, and the Eton crew won as they liked by eight lengths.

The trustees of Cornell university, who are now here, have decided to bring two crews to Henley in 1896.

Call It a Burning Shame.

ARSTIN, Tex., July 11.—A delegation of ministers of Austin have called on Governor Culberson and earnestly appealed to the governor to prevent the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight at Dallas, saying that it was a burning shame. The governor gave them a respectful hearing and assured them that if the provisions of the law were adequate that officers would see to it that the fight did not come off. The ministers say they want the laws made adequate so as to prevent the fight.

Denver Wheelmen Won.

ASTORIA, Pa., N. J., July 11.—Donald McKay of Denver won the first heat, and E. W. Swanbrough of Denver the second heat in the mile race for novices at the bicycle meet today.

Robert J. the Attraction.

LA CROSSE, Wis., July 11.—The event of the racing was the exhibition mile paced by Robert J. His time was 2:04 flat.

Ex-Champion Greenfield Is Dead.

LONDON, July 11.—All Greenfield, ex-champion heavyweight pugilist of England, is dead.

Will Not Import Colored Men.

CLEVELAND, July 11.—A report that the American Wire company had arranged to bring a large number of colored men here to take the places of the strike employees caused much excitement among the wire drawers who are out on a strike. The officials of the company deny the report, but intimate that an attempt will be made to start up work within a day or two.

Thoroughbreds Shipped to New York.

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 11.—Milton Young, the famous breeder shipped to New York 11 thoroughbred yearlings by the great Hanover and Strathmore, and of famous brood mares. They are the property of Michael F. Dwyer and will be shipped to Mr. Dwyer's stable at Newmarket, England, at once. They will be entered heavily in stake races by Mr. Dwyer.

Boston Man Insane in Denver.

DENVER, July 11.—De Witt Ray, who claims to own an interest in The Hair and Leather Journal of Boston, is in custody in this city on account of his violent actions, indicating insanity. He says he was lieutenant governor of New York at one time. He is about 30 years of age and of polished appearance.

His Third Set of Teeth.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 11.—Martin Quick, a pioneer of Franklin county, this state, who recently celebrated his 99th birthday, is now cutting his third set of teeth and he is proud of the achievement. The old man bears his years well, he still being quite vigorous, both mentally and physically.

Board Summoned to Topeka.

TOPEKA, July 11.—Governor Morrill by wire summoned the Hutchinson reformatory board to Topeka. The governor says he will ask them to resign at once and if they do not he will remove them on the written charges filed with him.

Western Roads Becoming Uneasy.

CHICAGO, July 11.—The western roads are becoming somewhat uneasy over the repeated reports that the return portions of teachers' tickets are finding their way into the hands of brokers and that eastbound rates are threatened.

Held For Robbing Mails.

ROSEBURG, Or., July 11.—James Poole and John Case were held to answer to the charge of robbing the United States mails on July 1. They were already under bonds for train robbery on the same occasion.

General Alger Confers With Platt.

NEW YORK, July 11.—General R. A. Alger of Michigan and ex-Senator T. C. Platt had a long conference at the home of Mr. Platt. Mr. Platt told a friend that he was not a candidate for presidential nomination.

Thomas B. Lacy For Grand Commander.

SPIRIT LAKE, Ia., July 11.—Thomas B. Lacy was elected grand commander of the Knights Templar of Iowa.

NO MONEY IN MEAT.

Phil Armour on the Beef and Pork Packing Situation.

NEW YORK, July 11.—P. D. Armour, the wealthiest man in Chicago, was a passenger on the Paris. To a reporter he said before leaving: "The beef and pork packing industry is still in a very unsatisfactory condition. The public has had an erroneous idea with regard to the business in which I am interested. There has been no trust formed to advance prices, nor to create a mythical scarcity of cattle to corner the market. The cattle raisers are masters of the situation. They are holding their cattle at such figures as compel the packers to pay unprofitable prices for stock, and in order to get out without any loss we have had to advance prices to the market men. The result is that there has been no money in meat for a long time."

PEARY RELIEF EXPEDITION.

Steamer Kite Sails For Greenland With a Party of Scientists.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., July 11.—The steamer Kite sailed today with the Greenland scientific expedition to relieve Lieutenant Peary. Captain John Bartlett, the master, is an able mariner. He commanded an expedition to Greenland when only 21 years old. His chief lieutenant is Patrick Dunphy, who was north two years with Peary's first expedition. The weather reports from Greenland indicate a mild winter and little ice, and it is thought it will be possible to reach Peary's headquarters, Falcon harbor, Bowdoin bay, about the 4th or 5th of August. All hope to be safely back in St. John's by the end of September. Peary is supposed to be now somewhere in the extreme north of Greenland.

Railway Receiverships and Foreclosures.

CHICAGO, July 11.—The Railway Age in its next issue will say upon the subject of railway receiverships and the foreclosures in 1893: A year ago, on June 30, 1894, receivers were operating 156 railways in this country, representing about 39,000 miles of lines and $2,500,000,000 of capitalization—that is, about 25 per cent of the then existing mileage and about 25 per cent of the combined capital stock and bonds. Within the last 12 months 45 roads, representing 6,723 miles of lines and $443,000,000 have been released from the hands of the courts by foreclosure sale, reducing the number in receivers' hands to 110, although the mileage and capitalization are not very much less than a year ago, owing to the slow work of reorganization of the few lines who own the aggregate.

Kansas Crops Damaged.

CHESTER, Kan., July 11.—It has been raining here for the past 36 hours, and the result is the almost entire destruction of the oat crop in southeast Kansas. Wheat in the shock is badly damaged. Much of the crop was blown down by heavy winds, and the wet weather has ruined hundreds of acres.

Breeder France Retires.

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 11.—W. C. France, the famous breeder of trotters, has retired from the business. He has commissioned Woodward & Shanklin to sell in October all his stallions, brood mares and horses in training, 80 in all. The lot includes Red Wilkes, Allie Wilkes and Clay King, three great sires.

DENVER, July 11.—Attorneys for water consumers began proceeding in the district court today to compel the city council to carry out the contract with the Denver Union Water company, requiring a reduction of rates to the average of Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati.

Altitude of Pike's Peak.

COLORADO SPRINGS, July 11.—It is believed that the work of the government surveying party now here will disclose an error in the figures of the old Kansas Pacific survey, and that the altitude of Pike's Peak will be proven to be 15,647 ft., a gain of over 1,100 feet.

EVERYTHING GOES UP.

Weak Opening Followed by Surprising Strength in Wheat Market.

Lack of Buying Orders and No Cash Demand Extended Party Weakness.

Activity in the Provision Pit.

CHICAGO, July 11.—Wheat started weak. Cables were lower, the foreign markets showing no indication to follow yesterday's 3-4-11-12. There was no outside buying and a discouraging lack of cash demand. Later in the day a bullish tone developed and on good buying prices advanced 5/8 from the low point.

Corn and oats followed weak. Higher prices at the yards.

In the Past Tense.

"Say, mister," he called, with his head in the door of a Michigan avenue grocery, "do you own a horse?"

"Yes, I own a horse," replied the grocer as he looked up from his paper.

"And a wagon?"

"Yes, what of it?"

"Nuthin," he said, "you are mistaken about the wagon," drawled the boy.

"Your horse took a skate down the street about five minutes ago, and there ain't nuthin of that there wagon left to make a creak of."—Detroit Free Press.

Egyptian Superstition.

The Egyptian shopkeeper had a deity to whom he offered sacrifice every morning, and whose duty it was in return to bring this reverence to stand in front of the shop during the day a sort of celestial "barker" and direct the attention of the people passing by to the shop and its contents.

True worth is as inevitably discovered by the facial expression as its opposite is sure to be clearly represented there. The human face is nature's tablet. The truth is certainly written there.—Lavater.

AUTHORS AND MARRIAGE.

The Single State, It is Said, Is the Best For Literary Men.

When we compare the restrictions of married men with the opportunities of the bachelor, we see that the latter has well nigh boundless possibilities for going into the social world. He has scores of invitations which will never reach his married friends, and he is generally south of the social world. He is almost threefold and ten. Even married women are more interested in him, whether they have a candidate for his hand or not. They talk with him on a wider range of subjects, in which they know he is sure to be interested than those whose chief thoughts are wrapped up in their families. He may have no formal invitations to the most notable gatherings than famous married men, but it is in the less pretentious places that he is learned of human life, and he can call where husbands cannot, and so easily study types denied to them. The world lies open in all directions to him. He is not tethered to a stable. He wishes to study the society of a certain city, to write a novel with a local flavor, and he removes there at his own sweet will. He stays abroad as long as he likes, and if he wishes to study the lower classes there he can live in lodgings among them where he would never take his wife.

When we come to investigate the lives of the greatest authors, we shall find that the majority either did not marry, or they were unhappily married, and hence thrown on the world for consolation and enlargement of knowledge, or they laid the foundations for greatness before marriage.

Among those we may mention in the class of unmarried authors are Alexander Smith, Thomas Gray, Oliver Goldsmith, Edward Gibbon, Charles Lamb, Lord Macaulay, Washington Irving, Wilkie Collins, Charles Reade. We ought also to add to this list the giant satirist, Dean Swift, for he never lived with his wife, and Lord Byron, who had only about a year's experience of married life.

We find some great names among the list of the unhappily married. The most enthusiastic advocates of matrimony could scarcely have the assurance to say that it added or was anything else than a clog to Chaucer, Shakespeare, Dickens or Thackeray.

It would be wearisome to give the names of all those authors who laid the foundations of greatness before marriage, and we shall instance only Milton, Goethe and Dante.—Mid-Continent.

WILD DILL'S HANDIWORK.

A Lasting Memorial of the Desperado's Skill With the Pistol.

On the west side of Market square in Kansas City stands a three-story front of a building known locally as Battle row, from the pugnae between the inhabitants. These lapse into brawls and chance middle encounters with an ease which should alarm. Up under the cornice of one of the buildings is an Old Fellow's sign, "I. O. O. F." If one's eyes are sharp, the white paint interior of the first floor will show a huddle of gray, weathered spots very well in the center of the letter. They are the handiwork of that long-haired gentleman of the border, Wild Bill.

It was back in the middle seventies when Wild Bill, "by request," and merely to show his witlike skill with those weapons, stood across the street, fully 100 feet away, and with a 45 caliber Colt's pistol in each hand put the 12 bullets into the center of this "O." He fired the pistols simultaneously, and the 12 shots made only six reports. The town was smaller at that time and in the interest of science didn't mind a little racket now and then. So Wild Bill's exhibition of crack pistol shooting excited nothing but commendation. Indeed Sperry, chief of police then, as well as now, was one of the most interested lookers on, and emphatically endorsed the exhibition as it had never been his luck to see.—Washington Star.

Keeping Everlastingly at It.

Genius is really only the power of making continuous efforts. The line between failure and success is so fine that we scarcely know when we pass it—so fine that we are often on the line and do not know it. How many a man has thrown up his hands at a time when a little more effort, a little more patience, would have achieved success! As the tide goes clear out, so it comes clear in. In business sometimes prospects may seem darkest when really they are on the turn. A little more persistence, a little more effort, and what seemed hopeless failure may turn to glorious success. There is no failure except in the longer trying. There is no defeat except from within, no really insurmountable barrier save our own inherent weakness of purpose.—Electrical Review.

A Sty on the Eye.

When you feel the pricking pain on the eyelid that announces the coming of a sty, make a very strong application of black tea, or simply the tea leaves moistened with a little water put in a small bag of muslin and placed on the eyelid. As it dries moisten again, and if used before the sty gets under way it is said to be a sure cure.
